MESSAGE FROM PARISH PRIEST

"I'm most proud of the blessings that God has bestowed upon me, in my life. He's given me the vision to truly see that you can fall down, but you can still get back up. Hopefully, I'll learn from my mistakes and have the opportunity to strengthen and improve the next thing I do." - Martin Lawrence

With the blessings of God the Almighty, Jesus his only Son, our beloved Mother Mary and all the saints and angels, let us begin the busy schedules that will be ahead of us—the start of the academic year in schools and colleges, and our students building their careers. I pray that all the goals, interests, ventures and dreams that all you children set are achieved with divine blessings!

This month also being the feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and St. Anthony, as we celebrate these feasts, let us invoke the blessings of the most Sacred Heart of Jesus and ask Him to bless our families and keep us united in the faith. Let us pray that our faith may be deep-rooted and strong, so that in times of joy and struggles we may not be overwhelmed and that our faith may sustain us. Let us pray also to St. Anthony, to intercede with Jesus, to protect us from all harm and evils and keep us together in times of turbulence.

It is my great pleasure and happiness to thank each one of our parishioners for their wonderful support and cooperation in our parish. This indeed helps us to keep this big family united, and together achieve the milestones that this parish of St. Patrick's has reached.

I wish the children of our parish all the best as they begin their new academic year at their respective schools and colleges.

God Bless us all.

BRINGING ALIVE THE FAITH FORMATION CLASSES

The involvement of Fr. Sunny Richard at the Faith Formation classes over the last academic year was indeed very welcome. He brought with him many positive changes from his experience of earlier years and a new routine, beginning with an assembly of the children at the school quadrangle. At the assembly, the children say a common prayer composed by one of the faith formators. This is followed up with some important/current Catholic News from around the world. A Saint of the Month is chosen and some details on the inspirational life of that saint are shared with the children. Announcements if any follow, after which the children and teachers move to their respective classes.

Fr. Sunny's idea was to introduce a more inter-active classroom instead of the chalk-and-talk method of teaching, in order to make the Catechism class different from any other regular school classroom. This style, he said, would get the children more interested and relaxed and they would find it easier to express themselves.

Accordingly, various activities were undertaken in the course of the year and these were covered in the earlier issues of the Patrician. Special Days and Special Masses were celebrated on several occasions. November was marked as the Bible Month, for which a detailed programme was drawn up by Fr. Sunny. The first 5 books of the Bible - The Pentateuch - were chosen for study. Biblical characters, chapters, topics, stories were clearly marked for each week. All classes had to concentrate on these 5 books of the Bible and important events from these books were highlighted.

The children were divided into 5 groups, each named after one of the 5 books - Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. Each group concentrated on one book for their group activities. Groups consisted of children between 4 and 16 years of age.

2 teachers were in charge of each group. During the month of November children met together in their groups (and not their regular classes) in order to practise for their competitions to be held on the Final Day.

Children from the 1st to 3rd standards took part in the Bible fancy dress competition. They chose from characters allotted to their group like Adam, Eve, Cain, Abel, Moses, Pharaoh, Noah, animals on Noah's ark etc. Parents took the trouble to ensure their kids were dressed well and so did the sisters from St. Patrick's Boys' Home.

Children from the 4th to 6th standards took part in the storytelling competition which comprised of 2 rounds because many were very keen to take part. The best of these were chosen and narrated their stories on the final day. It was interesting to hear their versions of the stories which were related with much imagination and without inhibition, and kept the audience totally enthralled!

The older children put up skits based on the topics assigned to them. They came up with wonderful and innovative ideas. There was good team work as each helped the other. The groups practised every Sunday in the month of November. They worked on their story, script, narration, dialogues, costumes, props, acting, singing, music, expression, power point presentation etc. with much enthusiasm and dedication. Many talents came to the fore!

The aim of the Bible Month was to familiarise the children with the great characters of the Bible, the first 5 books in particular, in a fun and unconventional way. By the end of the programme, even the smaller children knew the names of the 5 books well, even though they struggled with pronunciations initially eg:

BRIDGETTINE CONVENT: CROWN OF SANCTITY TO BLESSED MARIA ELIZABETH

Tucked away in a quiet corner of St. Joseph's Zone, of our parish is the Convent of St. Brigitta. The inhabitants of the convent are in a celebratory mood as on June 5th, our Holy Father, Pope Francis will be canonizing the foundress of their order, Blessed Maria Elizabeth Hesselblad.

Ble. Maria Elizabeth, the foundress of the revived Bridgettine Order, was born the fifth of thirteen children into a Lutheran family in Sweden in 1870. At the tender age of 18, she set sail for New York, in search of work to support her family. However, once there, she was often sick because of her frail health, and was soon hospitalized. It was then that Ble. Maria Elizabeth chose to dedicate her life to the care of the sick and the abandoned, whereupon she experienced a profound miracle, and was cured of her illness. Thus touched by God's hand, she pursued her studies in nursing, and worked at the Roosevelt Hospital in New York City. It was at this hospital that she encountered the Catholic faith. At the same time, she was still perplexed by the various sects and denominations in the church, and set about to find the true one. On this matter, she later recalled -

"As a child, going to school I saw that my companions belonged to many different churches, I began to wonder what was the true Church, because I had read in the New Testament that there would be one sheepfold and one shepherd. I prayed often to be conducted at that sheepfold and the memory of having done it especially on an occasion when, while walking under the big pines in my native country, especially I looked skyward and said: Dear Father, who art in heaven, where is the sheepfold where You want us all together. I thought that a great peace came into my soul and a voice respond to me: O, my daughter, one day we'll show you. This security accompanied me in all the years that preceded my entry into the Church."

Her determination to find and experience the true fold was rewarded when she was baptized into the Catholic Church with the guidance and help of Fr. Giovanni Giorgio Hagen, S.J, who also became her spiritual director. Later, after receiving the Sacrament of Confirmation in Rome, her vision of Christian unity began to take shape, and she decided to dedicate herself to bringing together all members of the faith. She also visited the church and house of Saint Bridget of Sweden (1373), where she received a deep and lasting message: "It is in this place that I want you to serve me."

In 1906 Pope Saint Pius X allowed her to take the habit of the Order of the Most Holy Saviour of Saint Bridget, and profess vows as a spiritual daughter of the Swedish saint. Through the gifts of the Holy Spirit, and in response to requests from below and signs from above, she reconstituted the Order of Saint Bridget in 1911. This she did while staying true to the Brigittine traditions of contemplative nature and solemn celebration of the liturgy. The great ideal of "Ut omnes unum sint" (They all may be one) inspired her apostolate, from which she drew the inspiration to dedicate her life to uniting Sweden and Rome in God.

During and after the Second World War, Ble. Maria Elizabeth performed great works of charity on behalf of the poor and those who suffered because of racial laws. She promoted a movement for peace that involved Catholics and non-Catholics, all the while multiplying her ecumenical endeavors. For the many people who belonged to other religions or other Christian confessions, she became part of their journey towards the Catholic Church.

Her life was marked by continuous charity. During the Second World War she gave refuge to many Jews who were fleeing Nazi persecution, and turned her home into a place where her daughters could distribute food and clothing to those who were in need.

On April 24, 1957, after a long life marked with sanctity, she died in the house of Santa Brigida in Rome. She left behind a great legacy of holiness among her spiritual daughters, the clergy, and among the poor and simple people who venerated the Mother of the Poor and model of religious.

So great was her reputation for holiness, that the cause of her beatification commenced soon after her death. She was proclaimed Venerable by St. John Paul II on the 26th of March, 1999, and was beatified on April 9th of the following year.

All the while her legacy grew. Today, her many daughters, known as the Bridgettines, minister to God's people around the world, in 55 houses spread across 17 countries. In India, the Bridgettines serve in 21 houses throughout the southern states, as well as in Mumbai, Delhi, Goa and Bihar.

BRINGING ALIVE THE FAITH FORMATION

“levicut-us” for Leviticus etc. The Bible Fest helped children bond with each other across classes and also with teachers. The little ones cheered enthusiastically for their teams as their team members performed. It was a good experience for the teachers as well.

Role playing/acting helps children identify with the characters they portray, making it easier for them to learn and remember. Strengths and weaknesses of the Biblical characters were identified and the children chose to emulate those characters that impressed them. They may not remember lectures in a classroom but they will always remember the character that they have played. The cooperation and participation of the parents too was much appreciated.

The children enjoyed the programme so much, that they missed meeting together in their groups when regular classes resumed the following month. It was truly an enjoyable experience both for students and teachers.
